FRONT-END DEVELOPER

ABOUT ME

I have been managing my own agency for more than six years, which has let me develop a large amount of projects.

In recent years my main job has been as a web designer and developer.

However, my desire to learn drove me into other tasks, such as video editor, online marketing strategies developer and customer relationship manager.

Currently I am deep into front end development, in which I have found an amazing world I can not stop learning about. It combines three beautiful things for me: design, code and problem-solving.
